Subject: Looking for a Potential Case. Advertisement

Hello,

I am looking for a case against any company who provides credit card receipts that either prints more then the last 5 digits of a credit card number OR prints the credit cards' expiration date.

If the company does either of the above, it violates the Fair Credit Reporting Act. This Act was enacted in part to prevent identity theft and provides statutory damages for violations of it.

If you, any of your friends, family or clients have any such receipts or know of any companies, please contact me.

As always, I appreciate any considerations in this matter.
